

Discover FNTN: Connecting You to Support & Community

October 6, 2026

10:00-11:30am MT

This session offers an introduction to the First Nations Telehealth Network (FNTN), a sub-network of the First Nations Technical Services Advisory Group (FN TSAG). We will cover who we are, the services we provide, how to request sessions, and how to navigate our website to stay informed. You will also be introduced to resources available for you, or someone you know.

Learning Outcomes:

- Gain an understanding of who the First Nations Telehealth Network (FNTN) is, and its role in supporting communities
- Explore the range of services offered through FNTN and how they can be applied to support community needs
- Learn the process for requesting, booking, and accessing FNTN sessions and supports
- Develop familiarity with the FNTN website and available resources for ongoing information and support

Speakers:

Alannah Hanson, MA, BAH, Telehealth Education Coordinator, FNTN, TSAG - Alannah is of mixed-settler descent, including Korean, Japanese, Irish, Scottish, Ukrainian, and Polish. She grew up in Vancouver, BC, spent some time in Kingston, Ontario, and now resides in Edmonton, Alberta. Alannah has been working with and supporting Indigenous communities for the last 3 years, in her current role as the Telehealth Education Coordinator for FNTN.

Target Audience: Indigenous community members, health and social service professionals, educators, and the general public! All are welcome
