

Indigenous Health Telehealth Learning Series

The AHS Indigenous Patient Journey Projects The AHS

Indigenous Patient Journey projects sought to explore what was working, what was not working & what was missing in Addiction and Mental Health services provided to Indigenous populations.

This session is presented by Randal Bell. Randal is currently employed in the Community, Seniors, Addiction & Mental Health portfolio as the Senior Advisor for Indigenous Populations. Randal has held various management positions in social care and health organizations that serve Indigenous communities.

This session occurs June 19th at 12:00 pm-1:00 pm and will be recorded.

Randal has also held senior project management and quality improvement positions in the United Kingdom & New Zealand. Randal holds a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work and has certifications in project management, change management, risk mitigation & quality improvement. Randal's current provincial role allows him to focus on his passion; which is improving health services for Indigenous populations. Randal is a Nehithaw from Montreal Lake Cree Nation in Northern Saskatchewan but currently resides in Edmonton."

Learning objectives for this session The AHS Indigenous Patient Journey Projects

After listening to 100 high needs indigenous service-users and another 100 indigenous service-users who were incarcerated, the project team has brought these voices forward to inform service development and to enhance service delivery in ways that work for Indigenous people."
