

Discussing STBBIs: Testing, Treatment, and Prevention

May 22, 2024

10:00-11:30am MST

In this session, we will discuss the ins and outs of Sexually Transmitted and Blood-Borne Infections (or STBBIs) and how they impacts individuals, relationships, and communities. We will address key knowledge points around testing, treatment, and prevention, as well as the impact that stigma and structural violence has on experiences of STBBIs. You'll leave with new knowledge, tools, and skills to talk about STBBIs in your own lives, relationships and communities.

*Please note that this session will not be recorded or uploaded to our website..

Learning Outcomes:

- Participants will identify key STBBI knowledge points that are relevant to their practice
- Participants will identify key STBBI related resources available to them
- Participants will reflect on their relationship with STBBIs, including on how stigma shows up in their lives

Speakers:

Nolan E. Hill (he/him), is a Training Centre Facilitator with the Centre for Sexuality. He has an extensive background in working in queer health, HIV, and harm reduction. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Women's Studies from the University of Calgary.

Target Audience: This session is designed for adults who want to ensure they have up to date and relevant information for themselves, and others in their lives around STBBIs, as well as those who work with people in their communities and may discuss STBBIs with their patients and clients
