

Zebra Centre: Our Story and Services

October 14, 2026

10:00-11:30am MT

It takes an entire community to support children and youth that have experienced child abuse. Through the lens of a Child & Youth Advocacy Centre (CYAC) and its multidisciplinary team approach, learn about Canadian CYACs, current trends of child abuse, and how to create a safer space for young people to share their experience of abuse.

Learning Outcomes:

- Understand the role that a Child & Youth Advocacy Centre plays in the community and identify their local CYAC
- Examine the different types of abuse categories that affect young people and analyze possible indicators of abuse
- Apply strategies to support young people when disclosing abuse

Speakers:

Nadine Kereliuk is a Professional Human Ecologist that advocates for vulnerable children and youth in our community through a holistic perspective. She has experience working with various populations, from youth experiencing houselessness to families involved with government care. In her role as Community Education Lead at the Zebra Child & Youth Advocacy Centre, Nadine assists with the Zebra Centre's community awareness, connections, and education. Nadine provides an open heart and a listening ear to individuals who are impacted by child abuse and hopes to create a brighter future for our community.

Target Audience: Grown-ups!
Caregivers, professionals,
post-secondary students, etc.
